FOREWORD

The editors of the 1967 ROTUNDA have departed radically from the traditional format of the book. Our guiding principle has been "A picture is worth a thousand words." We sincerely hope that our efforts prove more original and creative than our guiding principle.

This is the ROTUNDA, 1967. No bonfires, please.

ACADEMIC LIFE

WILLIS M. TATE

PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

President Willis M. Tate described 1966-67 as a "rich year" for Southern Methodist University in terms of academic achievement and physical growth. Contributions to the University have come in varying forms and from many people. Donations to the endowment fund have totaled over $8,000,000 in the past twelve months. Of even greater value are the significant contributions made by professors in the areas of research and writing. SMU is now committed to more than $9,500,000 of research and over fifty books and major articles have been published by faculty members during this academic year. That the students, too, have made an appreciable contribution is evidenced by the high calibre of their work.

Expanding facilities and an increase in the numbers and quality of the faculty reflect the concentrated efforts being made by the administration to fulfill the University's objective of providing a truly superior liberal education. Dr. Tate noted that because of "the impetus provided by our new School of Arts, SMU and its environs are alive to the excitement of aesthetics." Construction on the Owens Fine Arts Center has reached the second phase; in March the Hastings Harrison Building was opened, and in May work on the two theaters and the classroom buildings reached the half-way mark. The increased enrollment which necessitated this enormous building program also made an increase in the size of the faculty imperative. The number of new professors who have signed teaching contracts has already surpassed the Master Plan goal due to be reached by 1968.

Notable academic conferences held during the year included an appraisal of the Second Vatican Council, and a leadership symposium for women. Other significant activities were the Shakespearean seminar and the non-verbal communications series. Dr. Tate observed that "the audiences and impacts of these conferences were as varied as their topics, but the aggregate effect was to make our campus a community market place of ideas."

It was, indeed, a "rich year."

ADMINISTRATION

The universal challenge faced by the University's administrators this year was one of limited space and the growing numbers of students and faculty occupying it. Over 8,100 students registered each semester, which is an indication that SMU is one of the few private schools in the nation which has maintained its strong enrollment position despite a decreased birth-rate and increased education costs.

Those best able to appreciate the problems resulting from this increased enrollment are Ralph Binnion, Director of Admissions, and Donald Renner, the University Registrar. Mr. Binnion is in charge of admissions to the schools of Humanities and Sciences, Engineering, Business, the Arts, and the University College. Approximately 1,300 students were chosen from over 2,000 applicants.

As Registrar, Mr. Renner is in charge of the administration of student records, which include grade point averages, transcripts, and student account reports.

Weldon Whitlow, Director of Financial Aid, deals with the areas of student recruitment and administration of scholarships. In the spring, Mr. Whitlow travels to secondary schools throughout the country to interview prospective freshmen.

Rev. H. Grady Hardin, University Chaplain, conducts regular Sunday services at Perkins Chapel and gives the invocation at important school functions. In addition to these duties, he counsels both students and staff members and is a professor of preaching and worship at Perkins School of Theology.

Fred W. Bryson, Dean of Student Life, serves as the coordinator of all official student activities. One of the busiest administrators at SMU, Dean Bryson is the liaison between the administration and the student government association, religious groups, and foreign students. He organizes orientation for new students, supervises all-school elections, and directs Student Center activities.

Miss Phoebe Davis, Secretary of the University, is responsible for keeping all contracts, for the maintenance of University records, and for taking minutes at administration meetings. She also serves as secretary to the Board of Trustees and the Board of Governors.

Mrs. Watson Tillman has worked with Dr. Tate as Assistant to the President for the past six years. Mrs. Tillman is in charge of checking important correspondence and forwarding it to the proper offices. She also handles details for official functions such as the luncheon for Bob Hope.

Robert M. Trent has served as Director of Libraries for seventeen years. He has charge of four libraries, which contain a total of 870,000 volumes. He and his staff are now formulating plans to remodel Fondren Library and build an addition to the present facilities.

As Executive Director of the Alumni Association, Pierce Allman is the link between the University and 33,000 alumni in the United States and 60 foreign countries. Mr. Allman travels to over fifty alumni associations each year to maintain communication between the University and former graduates. Mr. Allman and his staff play a vital part in recruiting outstanding high school students, coordinating arrangements for Homecoming, and supporting student activities through the donation of trophies for Sing-Song, Homecoming, and Manada.

The numerous responsibilities of Mrs. Ogden Baine, Dean of Women, include the supervision of women's residence halls, discipline, and individual counseling. She sponsors both Panhellenic and the Associated Women Students. Mrs. Baine serves on many University committees and is concerned with the continual development of programming pertinent to the needs of women students at SMU.

Serving in a similar capacity as Dean of Men, Joe Howell directs male residence halls, provides counseling for students in need of it, and directs fraternity affairs. His office has jurisdiction over the 2,731 male undergraduates registered at SMU.

Andrew J. Osborne, Business Manager of the University, is administrative supervisor of endowment investments, construction, property management, and the University budget. He directs activities of the Auxiliary Enterprises Operations, which includes dormitories, dining halls, and the printing department. Mr. Osborne is also responsible for the physical plant, insurance, payroll, and personnel of the University.

ADMINISTRATION

William M. Wright, Director of Research Grants and Contracts, handles approximately seventy-five different types of grants, both government and private. The grants and contracts, which Mr. Wright's office secures for research purposes and training in all fields, presently total about $2,500,000.

The Office of Special Services, directed by Mac C. Adams, operates all undergraduate student housing, coordinates financial aid for students, and handles loans for graduate students.

Martin S. Reese, Director of Student Publications, has been instrumental in making the SMU printing office one of the largest typesetting shops in Dallas. The printing department presently handles the ten SMU catalogues, two legal publications, the tri-weekly SMU Campus, books for the SMU Press, and the Alumni Bulletin.

Director of Development William R. Gall has initiated several new fund-raising programs since coming to SMU in 1965. These include the deferred alumni-giving program and the Corporate Development plan. He is director of the Sustentation Program and works closely with the Dad's Club and the Mother's Club. Mr. Gall's primary goal is to keep the Master Plan on schedule. He hopes to raise $111,000,000 by 1974.

As Director of Public Relations, Joe Sherman supervises operation of the news bureau and the public relations office at SMU. His office fills the increasingly important need for communicating the aims and accomplishments of SMU to the public.

"Junior" Eldredge, Assistant Business Manager of Athletics and Sports Publicity Director, handles press releases on sports items and maintains contact with the news media, both locally and nationally. In addition to these duties,

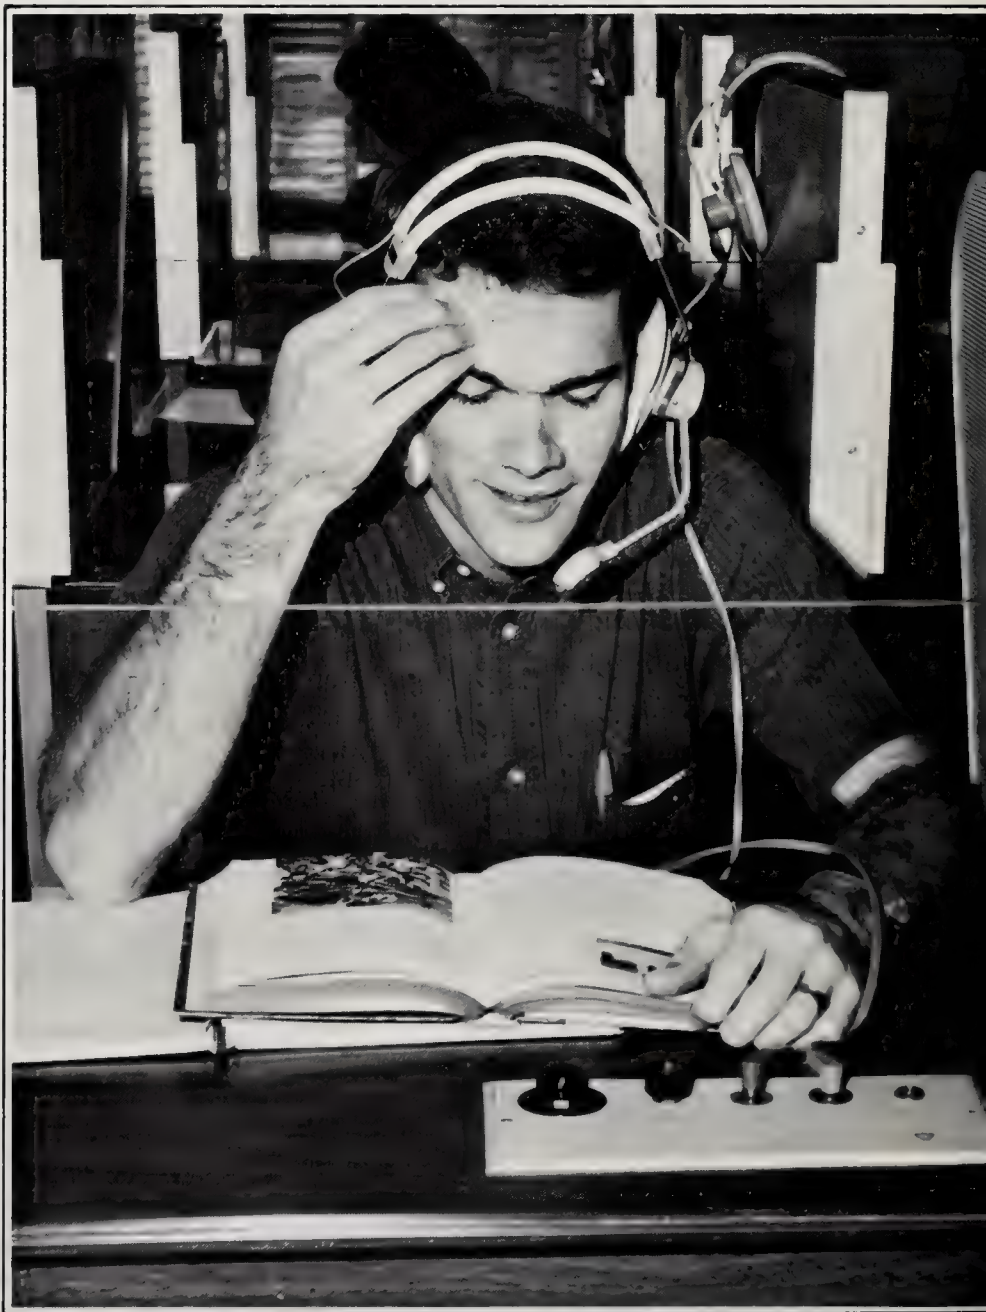

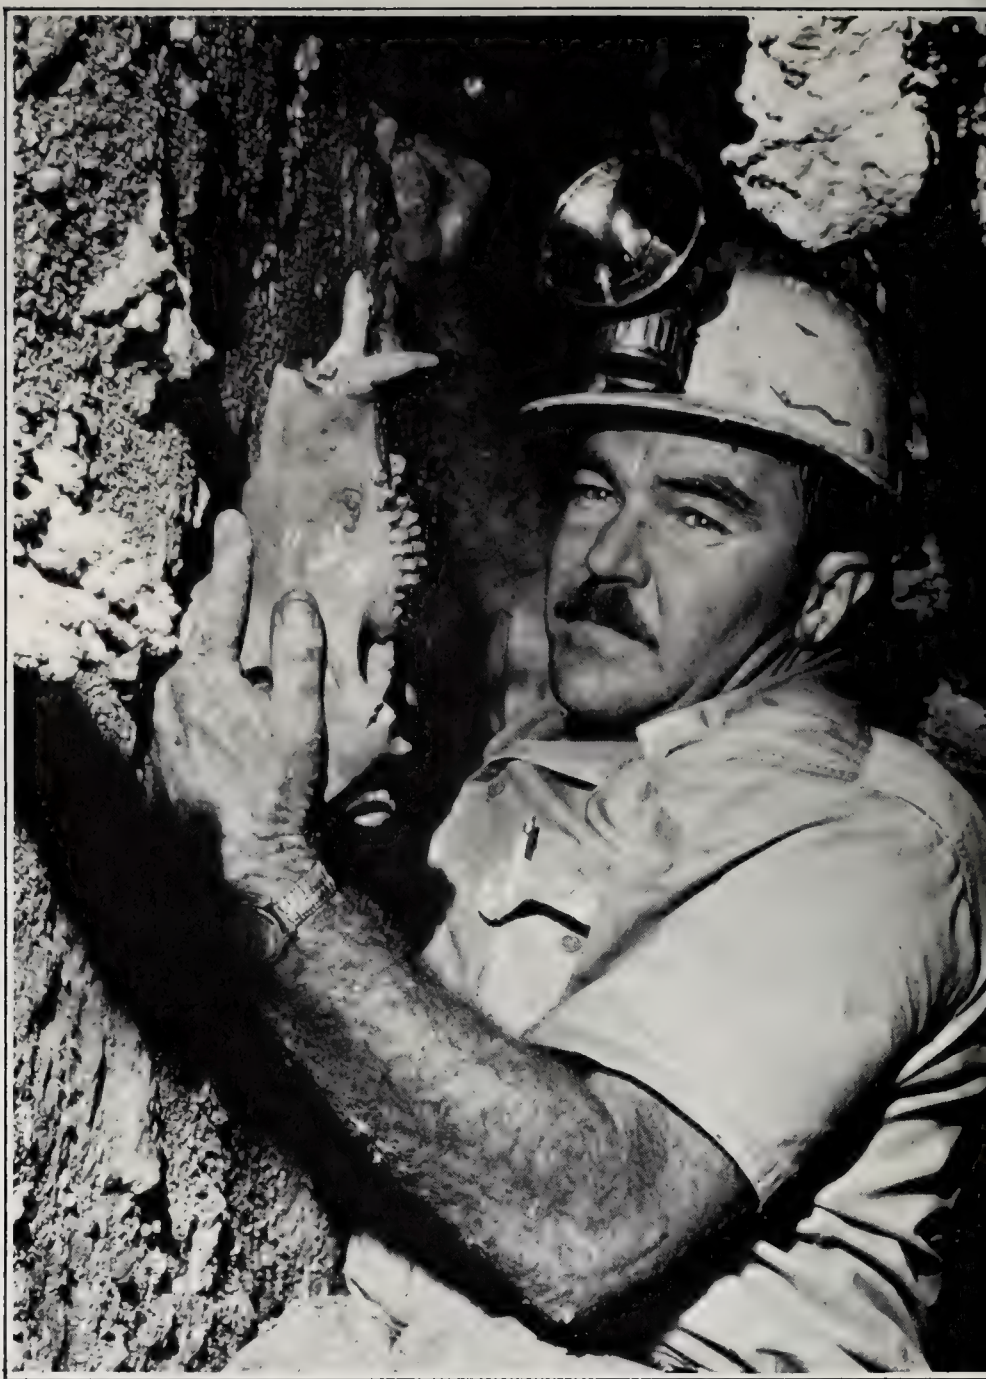

Mr. Eldredge handles travel arrangements for SMU teams.

Lester Jordan occupies two important positions as Athletic Business Manager and Assistant Athletic Director. As Business Manager, he works primarily with athletic scholarships and the athletic budget. Mr. Jordan negotiates schedules of athletic events and deals with the Southwest Conference Athletic Council.

Hayden Fry, Athletic Director, oversees all facets of SMU athletics. He also serves as head football coach.

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES AND SCIENCES

The School of Humanities and Sciences emphasizes the ideal of liberal education. It seeks to inculcate values not attained through a strictly professional or specialized course of study. Its primary aim is to develop in each student the qualities of mind and spirit needed to reinforce technical skills and form the foundation for success in any profession, business, or activity.

To accomplish this end, the College seeks to help each student increase his ability to read with understanding, to speak and write clearly, and to think logically. It attempts also to broaden and deepen his acquaintance with the areas of knowledge essential to intelligent living. Further, it offers the opportunity to concentrate in an area of study which is of special interest to the student or which will prepare him for his chosen work after graduation.

In the freshman and sophomore years, the University College curriculum is concerned with a broad general education. In the junior and senior years, concentration is encouraged. The ideal of balance is maintained throughout, however, and the student is expected to attain critical and reasonably comprehensive knowledge in the three chief areas of liberal learning: the humanities, the social sciences, and the natural sciences.

JOSEPH P. HARRIS, Dean of Humanities and Sciences

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES AND SCIENCES

The School of Humanities and Sciences offers majors in thirty subjects. Through its Air Force ROTC program, the school offers the young man, preparing for his chosen career, the additional opportunity of qualifying for a reserve commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force. It also provides for the prospective student of law a program in liberal arts which may be combined with work in a professional school for a combination of degrees. The University recognizes its responsibility in preparing young people for careers in teaching. The maintenance of a sound teacher-education program thus constitutes an important element in the College's objectives.

The central purpose of the school is to give each student, regardless of what his later occupation or specialization may be, thorough acquaintance with those areas of knowledge essential for a free person in a free society.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

University College was first formed in 1964. It puts into practice SMU's belief that a strong liberal education is essential. All freshmen enter the college, regardless of the field in which they plan to major. Professors in University College courses are drawn from the entire faculty of the University. Thus, freshmen benefit from instruction by outstanding professors from every area of the University.

University College differs from other colleges in that it offers interdisciplinary courses which integrate areas of learning usually separated by intense specialization. One such course, Nature of Man, focuses on the various biological, cultural, and psychological aspects of man's adaptation to his total environment.

During the sophomore and junior years, the student takes a Humanities course. In addition to the regular Humanities discussion groups and lectures, the student attends workshops. He is given the choice of participation in dance, music, theater, sculpture, or painting. These workshops encourage creativity on the part of the individual.

The University College also has established a Superior Studies program for especially gifted students.

JOHN HICKS, Dean of the University College

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

AARON Q. SARTAIN, Dean of the School of Business

The School of Business at Southern Methodist University was founded on February 20, 1920. It has an ideal location for a collegiate school of business, as Dallas is the financial, insurance, and distributing center of the Southwest. This favorable location enables students to observe business in its many aspects and to gain experience in their areas of interest through part-time employment.

It is recognized that under modern conditions the apprenticeship system does not offer adequate training for a business career. Because of the complexity of the present economy, it is no longer feasible to learn to do merely by doing. The School of Business Administration of Southern Methodist recognizes business as a profession. It aims to give prospective businessmen thorough training for their future work. Education in fundamental principles rather than drill work in technical details is the object of instruction.

The faculty of the School of Business feel that the foundation for a future business career is best laid by learning methods for analyzing business data, by training the individual to deal with human relationships, and by developing a sense of moral responsibility. If a student has thus equipped himself, business life will offer him abundant opportunity for doing creative work for his own satisfaction and for the promotion of human welfare.

The best education for business consists of a combination of courses in the Business School and broad training in the other areas. In order to achieve this, the student is required to take at least forty-three hours of work in the University College and is urged to take a total of sixty hours outside the School of Business Administration.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

SCHOOL OF THE ARTS

KERMIT HUNTER, Dean of the School of the Arts

SMU is quickly becoming a major center for education in the arts. The School of the Arts and the Owen Fine Arts Center unite programs and facilities to produce stimulating interchange between the various departments of study. Divisions of dramatic arts, fine arts, music, and speech arts maintain a balance between professional preparation and liberal studies, to encourage the full development of students.

The curriculum of the School of the Arts has been expanded and new facilities added. Upon completion in 1968, Selectman Forbes Music Building will complement the faculty and provide facilities where the music program can grow in dignity and effectiveness. It provides 12 classrooms, 34 studios, 80 practice rooms, and six new pipe organs. Other additions will be two large rehearsal halls, an opera and dance workshop, and a recording studio.

The Owen Fine Arts Center complex will consist of nine separate units, four of which are now being used. The new units will be the Mudge Art Building, the Sharp Drama Building, the Bob Hope Theater, and the Margo Jones Theater. It will contain room for 1600 students at one time.

The School of the Arts continually stresses the belief that the teaching of the arts on the college campus must maintain a balance between professional preparation and a traditional liberal arts education. The school also believes that the forms of art should be closely allied and that the student is best educated in the arts when he has a chance to study in an atmosphere in which this philosophy prevails. Concerts, exhibitions, plays, and other activities are not confined to special compartments of the School but are expressions which appeal to all students.

The division of Dramatic Arts includes the departments of Broadcast-Film Art, Dance, and Theater. Broadcast-Film Art involves the study of radio and television, and allows study of the history and techniques of motion pictures. The Dance department offers both classical ballet and modern dance, as well as history and criticism, mime and characterization. The Theater department provides a BFA in acting, directing, theater design and technology, as well as comparative studies in theater history, dramatic literature, and criticism.

In the division of Fine Art, the student may concentrate in the areas of painting, sculpture, commercial art, art history, or art education. The division of Music offers the Bachelor of Music in applied music, music history, music theory, and music education.

The division of Speech includes departments of General Speech and of Speech Pathology and Audiology, both of which offer a master's degree.

SCHOOL OF THE ARTS

THE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

THOMAS MARTIN, Dean of the Institute of Technology

For the last year and a half there has been an ever-increasing effort to make the engineering department at SMU one of the foremost engineering schools in the nation. Dr. Thomas Martin, newly-appointed dean, is providing the dynamic leadership necessary to accomplish his objective of "a superior education for superior students."

Since Dean Martin's arrival many changes have been made. The School of Engineering has been reorganized as the Institute of Technology. In addition to the four major departments of Civil, Electrical, Industrial, and Mechanical Engineering, the Institute is also divided into six research centers in electronic sciences, computer sciences, thermal and fluid sciences, solid mechanics, and environmental engineering sciences. Under the new structure, an engineering student will select a major from one of the four departments, which will prescribe a curriculum. However, the courses will be offered through the research centers.

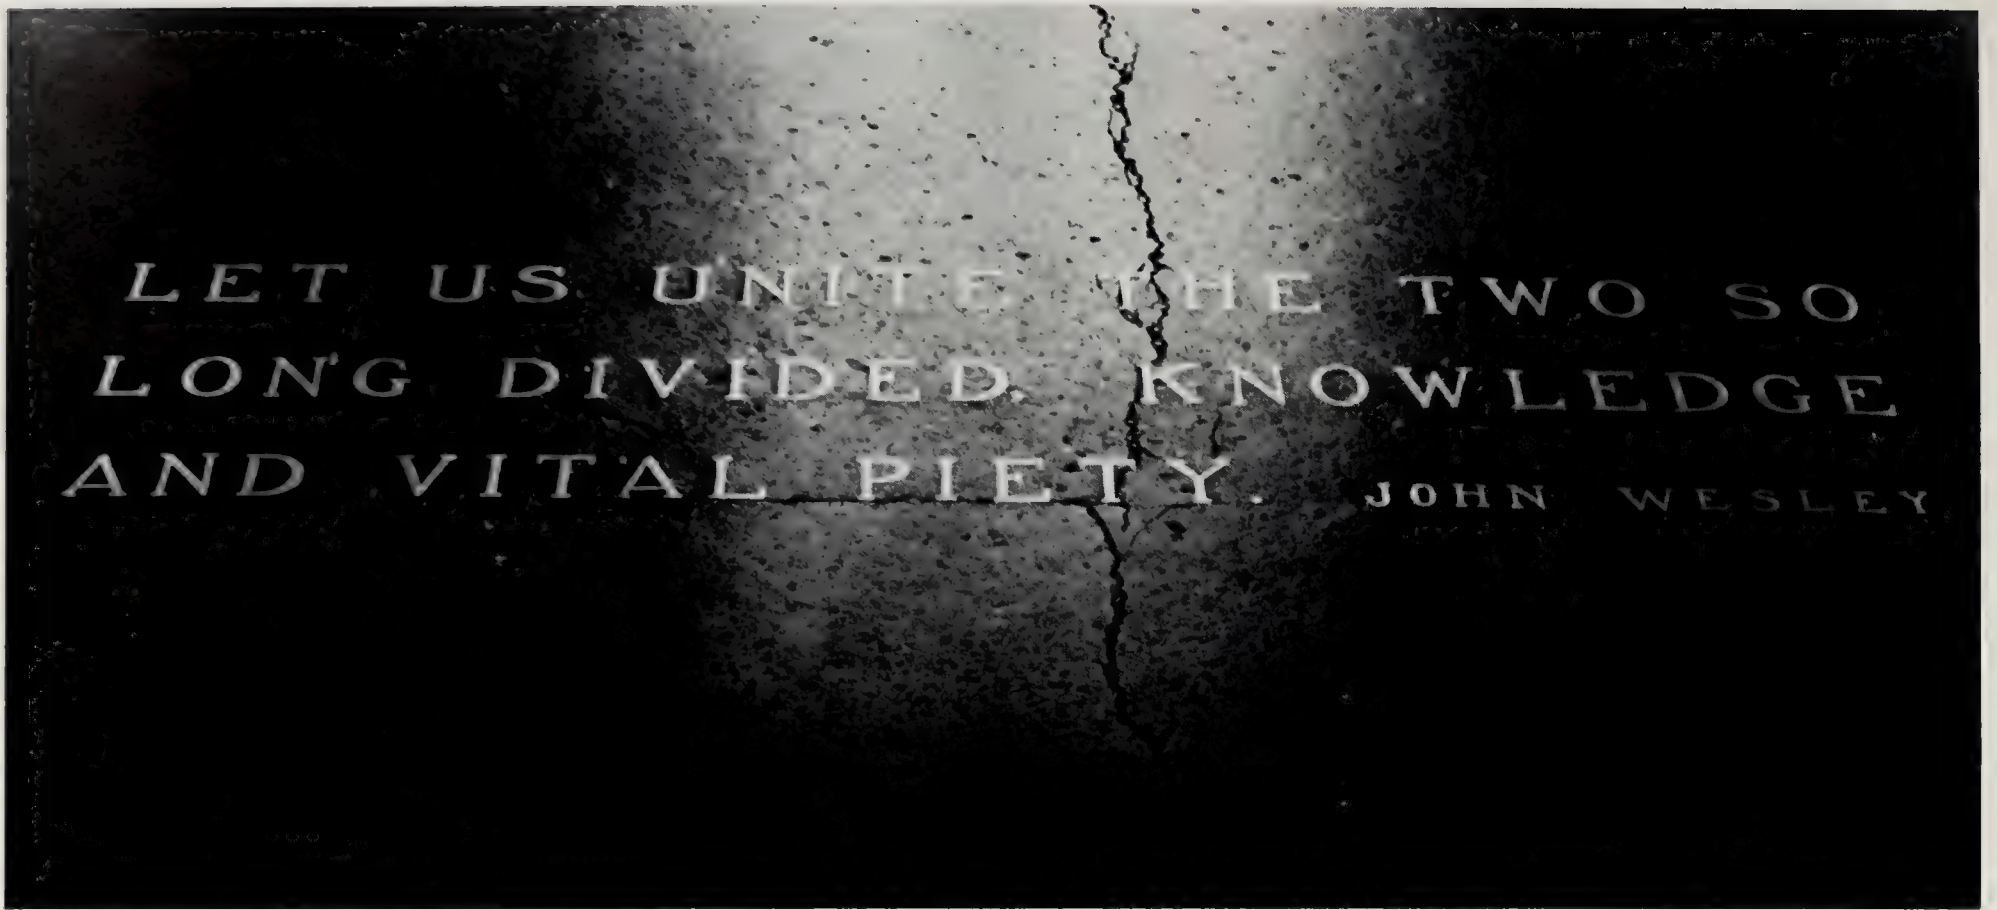

One significant innovation is the installation of a closed-circuit TV between SMU and area industry. This allows practicing engineers to undertake graduate study without leaving their plant site.

INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

SCHOOL OF LAW

The SMU School of Law, founded forty years ago, has grown from its first class of twenty-five to a present enrollment of more than five hundred students. It is the only law school in the North Texas region. A student entering the school studies the Anglo-American legal system during his first year. He thus gains a knowledge of the common law by studying Contracts, Torts, Property, and Criminal Law. After the first year, the student has a great deal of freedom in choosing his courses. The curriculum is national in scope and varied in content. For those planning to practice law in Texas, there are specialized courses in Texas law.

SMU law students have several unusual opportunities for gaining invaluable practical experience in their field before graduation. The school has established a Legal Aid Clinic which is directed by the students. People who otherwise would not have been able to obtain legal counsel are provided with both civil and criminal legal services. For the student, this program provides an excellent training ground for professional responsibility.

A unique outlet is provided for students' journalistic contributions. The student-edited Journal of Air Law and Commerce is the only periodical in the English language that deals with the legal and economic problems of aviation and space. The Southwestern Law Journal, another outstanding student publication, is devoted to an authoritative analysis of important legal topics.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

JOSEPH D. QUILLIAN, Dean of Theology

Perkins School of Theology is a graduate professional school for the ministry of the Church. Post-B.A. students may study for the three-year Bachelor of Divinity degree or the two-year Master of Religious Education degree. Perkins also offers the Master of Sacred Theology degree, which is a one-year course of study beyond the Bachelor of Divinity. Students who hold a bachelor's degree in music may pursue the Master of Sacred Music degree which is offered jointly by the School of the Arts and the seminary.

Perkins has come to be recognized as one of the strongest seminaries in the world with a faculty of approximately forty outstanding scholars from several denominations and a student body from thirty-five states and ten foreign countries. In addition to their teaching, the faculty members produce substantial writings in their fields, serve on numerous committees and commissions of the Church and the educational community, and lecture in every part of the country.

A program of continuing education has been launched during the past academic year which is expected to be of considerable service to ministers and laymen.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Following recommendations in the Master Plan, the Graduate School is cooperating with the various schools of the University in the development of strong graduate programs in business administration, in engineering, and in various disciplines of the humanities and sciences. One of the University's research facilities is the Seismological Observatory. It was established by the Dallas Geophysical Society in 1953. Six standard station seismographs, long and short period, along with experimental seismic systems are in use at the present time. Students are employed to process records obtained from these instruments. Data collected by the Observatory are available to advanced students who wish to undertake basic research in seismology.

CLAUDE C. ALBRITTON, Dean of the Graduate School

The University Herbarium affords opportunities for advanced study in plant taxonomy and such closely-related subjects as plant ecology, plant geography, and economic botany. The Herbarium contains approximately 295,000 plant specimens.

Another facility available to graduate students is the Computing Laboratory. This laboratory has Control Data Corporation 1604 and 160-A computers, eight magnetic tape units, a 600 card-per-minute reader, and a 1,000 line-per-minute printer.

The Shuler Museum of Paleontology is a research museum and affords opportunities for advanced study of fossil faunas of the Southwest. The museum includes some 15,000 fossils, chiefly from Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. Pleistocene vertebrates, Cretaceous microfossils, and Permian fusulines are represented most extensively in the collections.

The Laboratory of Mathematical and Experimental Statistics renders assistance to academic and industrial research groups. This assistance takes the form of research in theoretical and applied statistics and the carrying out of sample surveys or other statistical projects which have some aspect of academic interest. A geophysical laboratory and an acoustics laboratory are also available to graduate students.

DALLAS COLLEGE

JOHN M. CLAUNCH,
Dean of Dallas College

Dallas College was formed early in the history of SMU specifically to serve the multiple needs of part-time students. Late-day, evening, and Saturday classes held at the Downtown Center in the Easterwood Building and on the main campus enable students to earn bachelor's and master's degrees entirely through part-time study, if necessary. Nearly half of Dallas College students already hold one or more degrees and turn to after-work classes to upgrade professional knowledge or to explore new fields. Some of them go on to complete another degree.

The intellectual, esthetic, personal, and professional interests of adults who are interested in subject matter rather than college credit are served by a wide variety of well-taught, informal courses, conferences, and seminars throughout the year.

Dallas College draws between 4,000 and 5,000 students each semester, the registration divided equally between credit and non-credit programs. People of all ages take night classes, and the adult college often structures special studies requested by civic and professional groups in relatively narrow, but needed, subject fields.

Projections for the future indicate an increased need for advanced credit courses and continued expansion of informal studies.

In the opening game of the football season, SMU demolished Illinois, 26-7. The Mustangs scored the first time they had possession, on a 20-yard run by quarterback Mac White. The score remained 6-0 until the fourth quarter, when White hit Jerry Levias for a 60-yard TD. The Illini quickly countered with a touchdown to make the score 13-7. The Ponies surged back with a drive which ended in another fine touchdown run by Mac White. Mike Livingston sewed up the revenge of last season's defeat with a pass to Levias in the end zone.

SMU 21 NAVY 3

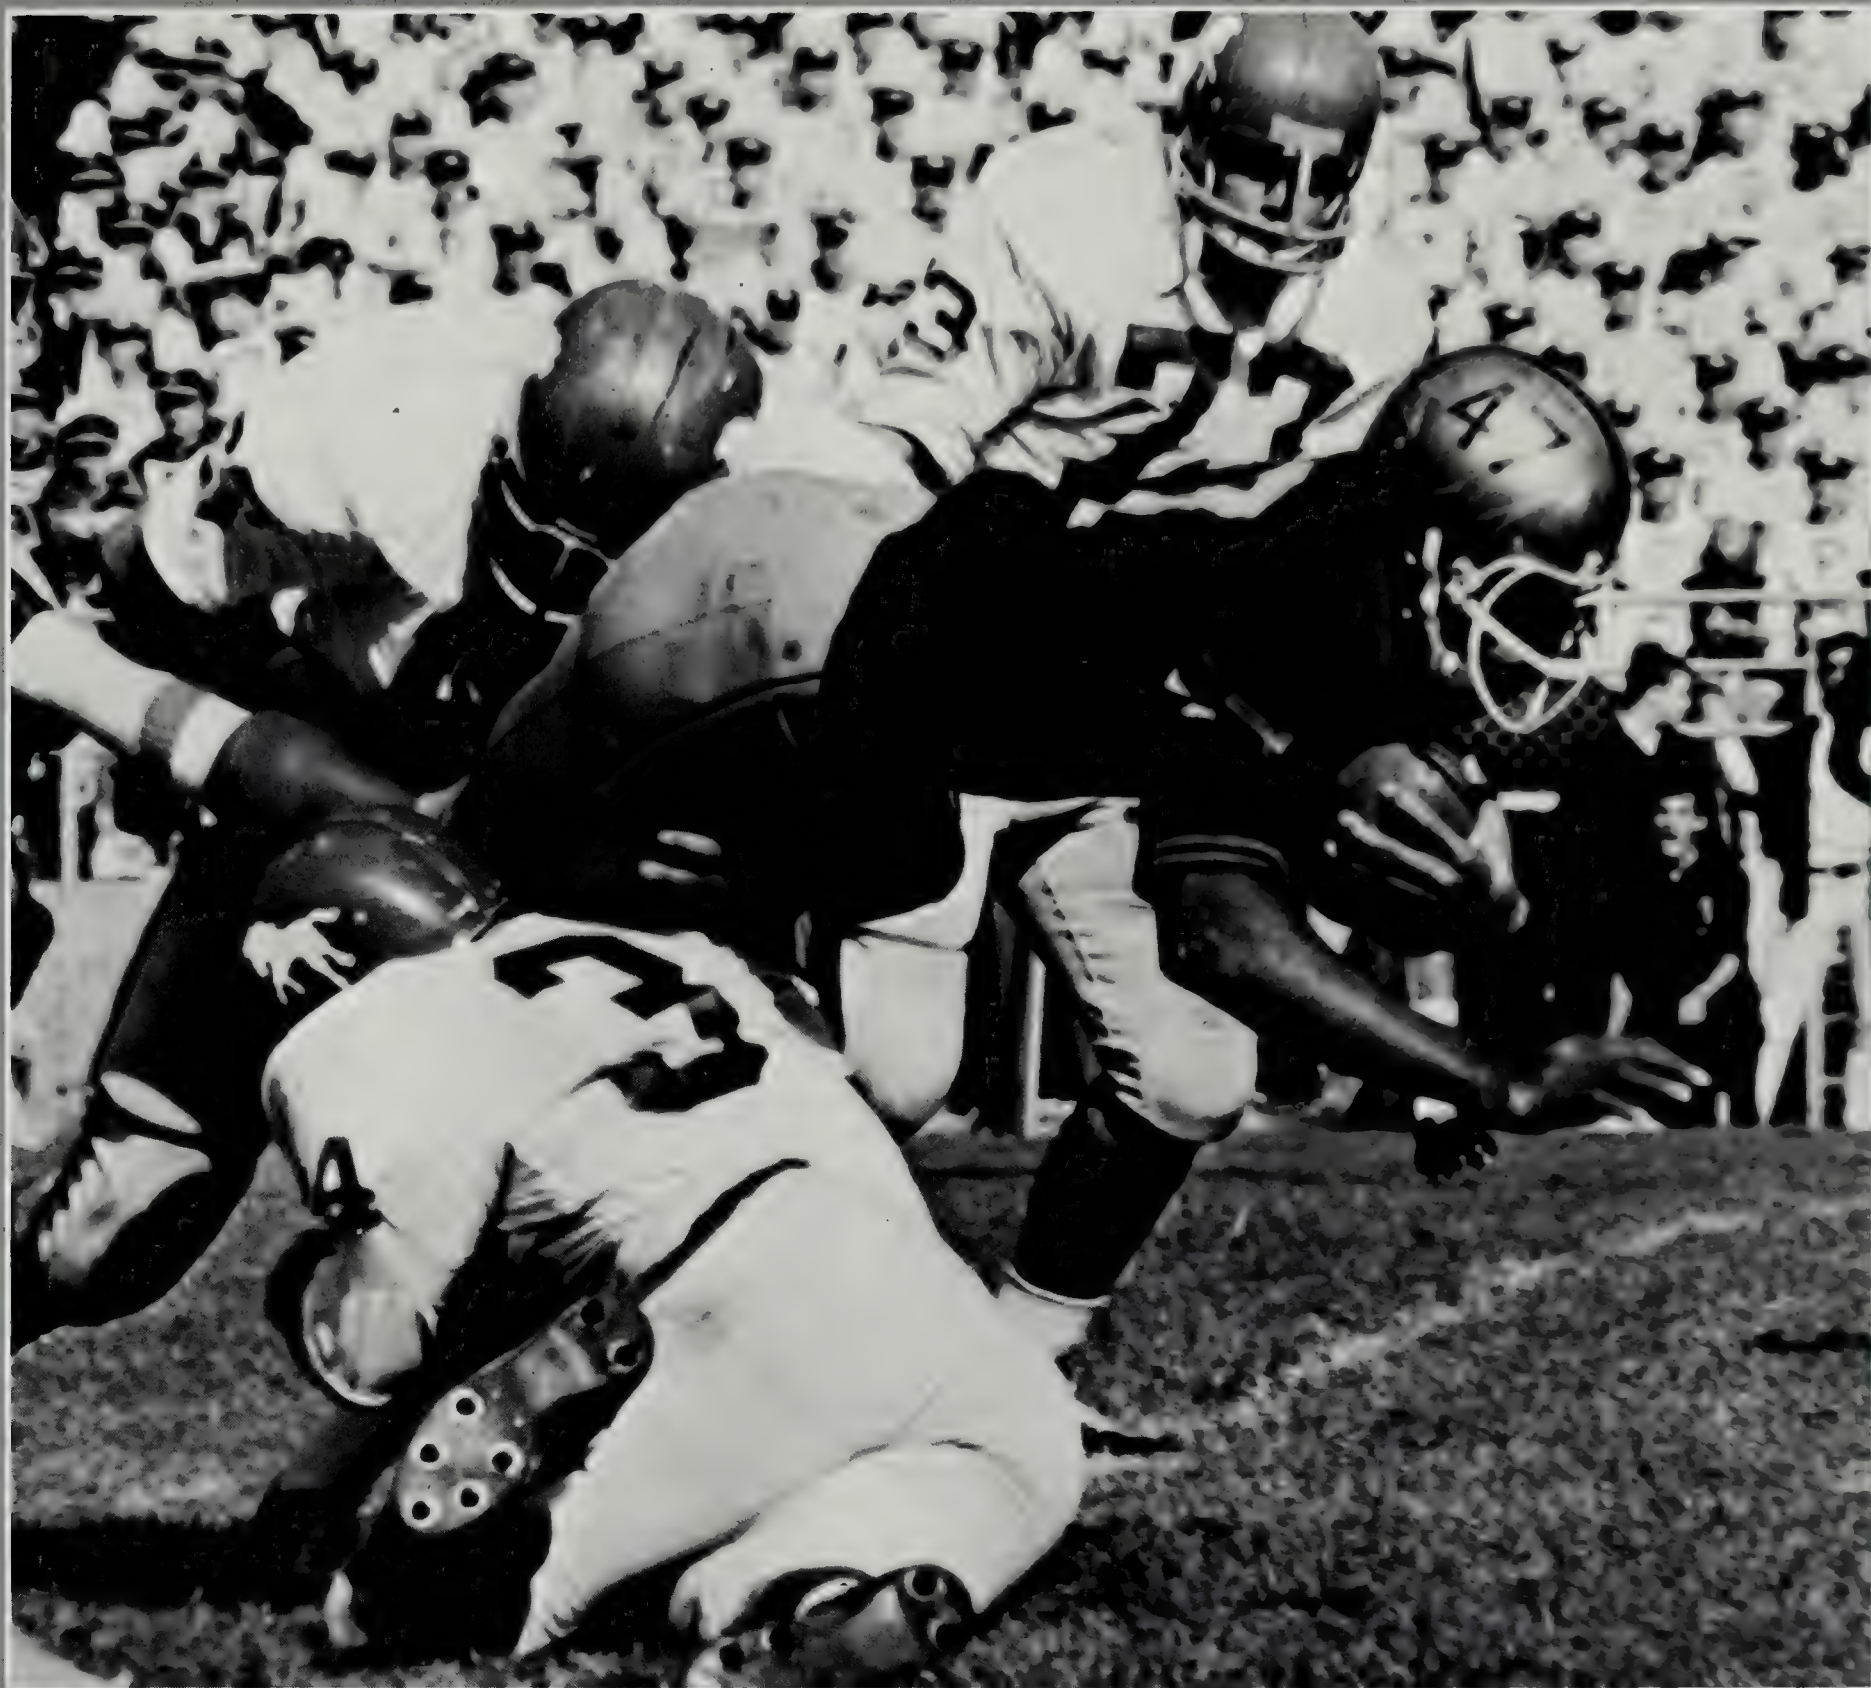

The top-rated team in the East fell victim to the strong defense of SMU in the Mustangs' second win of the season in as many games. Jerry Wilson's interception set up the first score for the Ponies, with Jim Hagle plunging into the end zone from the three-yard line. Jerry Levias' 48-yard punt return in the third quarter started the second Mustang drive. Harold Richardson received a Mac White pass to make the score 14-3. In the final quarter, Mike Livingston covered 23 yards of Navy territory to make the score 21-3.

The SMU defense was sparked by the great efforts of Medlin, Stewart, Griffin, and LaGrone. Levias lived up to his top billing by being a constant threat on offense.

On the opening kick-off, Purdue returned the ball to the Mustang 16 to set the stage for the afternoon. The Ponies countered with a drive to the Boilermaker 24-yard line, where Mac White's pass was intercepted. It took Purdue 13 plays to score for the second time. Mac White scored on a roll-out in the second quarter and Purdue countered once more to make the score at half-time, 21-7.

In the second half, the Mustangs quickly fell behind 35-7, but they caught fire again under the quarterbacking of Mike Livingston. Livingston threw to Hagle for one touchdown and to Levias for another, but time ran out with the final tally 35-23.

The first touchdown in the game between SMU and Rice was scored by the Owls in the second quarter after a bad pass from center on a fourth down situation. With the score 7-0, the Mustangs countered with a 61-yard drive, climaxed by Jim Hagle's diving score from eleven yards out. The first half ended with the score 7-7.

Rice scored the first time they got their hands on the ball in the second half. Then with 2:38 left in the third quarter, Rice made a fine 84-yard run to make the total 21-7. The Mustangs recovered a fumble on the Rice 13-yard line and capitalized on the break to score. Five minutes later, Rice kicked a field goal to go ahead 24-14.

The Ponies launched a successful 74-yard drive, capped by a two-pointer to Harold Richardson to make the score 24-21. The Rice drive stalled on the SMU 26, and the Owls punted to the Mustang 10. Levias made vital yardage with a fake field goal attempt on the Rice 21-yard line. Mac White carried the ball down to the Rice 5 and then passed to Levias for the winning score. The TD was recorded with nine seconds left on the clock.

Texas A&M looked like it had the winning combination in Hargett and Maxwell when it accounted for two touchdowns in the first period. The Ponies were held scoreless until Mac White went in from the one with a minute left in the first half. In the second half the Pony offense was sparked by the excellent performances of Larry Jernigan and Mike Richardson. Wayne Rape intercepted an Aggie pass and skipped into the end zone.

The Mustang pass defense clicked because of the efforts of Pat Gibson, Floyd Burke, and Wayne Rape. Gibson intercepted a pass in the end zone to stop an Aggie threat from the five. The final SMU score came when Jerry Levias ran back a punt return 83 yards. This fine run by Levias put the game on ice and made the final score 21-14.

When a football team controls the ball all afternoon, it almost always wins. The Mustang offense never got going and was shut out by the strong Razorbacks. The Hogs ran 80 plays to the Mustangs' 53, and managed to keep SMU in its own territory for most of the game. After an Arkansas field goal in the first quarter made the score 3-0, the Ponies stopped an Arkansas 66-yard drive on a fourth and one situation, but could not move the ball. The punt went to Bercher after the Ponies could not move, and he returned it 69 yards to make the score 9-0 at halftime.

In the second half, David Dickey, who carried the ball 133 yards on 38 carries, led the Razorback attack. Dickey carried the pigskin over from the one and the two in a pair of ten-yard touchdown drives to make the final tally 22-0.

SMU never came closer than the Arkansas 30 yard line, and then only on the last possession of the game.

SMU clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference Championship by defeating the Baylor Bears 24-22. A 100-yard kickoff return by SMU's Jerry Levias and a fine display of passing by Baylor's Terry Southall made this game one to be remembered. The Ponies led 14-0 at halftime, and it looked like a runaway when Levias' run put the Mustangs ahead 21-0 in the third quarter.

Baylor launched a passing attack to make the score 21-19 midway in the fourth quarter. The Mustangs could not move the ball and were forced to punt with 2:56 left to play. The Bears found the defense too rough and decided to punt with two minutes left. Ronnie Medlin gave the Mustangs hope by blocking the punt and the Ponies had the ball on the 47 with 1:40 remaining in the game. Mike Livingston, who led the Pony offense all day, passed to Jerry Levias on a 23-yard play and then ran an additional fifteen yards on the next play. After Livingston had put the ball into position on the five-yard line, Dennis Partee put the final tally on the scoreboard with fifteen seconds in the game to make the score 24-22.

In the first quarter of this final season game for the Ponies, Mac White passed to Jerry Levias for a 68-yard touchdown. This score was Levias' ninth of the season, which led the conference. TCU changed to a double wing spread but the Ponies adjusted quickly to keep the score 7-0 at half-time.

TCU's first possession of the second half was stopped, and the Mustangs marched 71 yards in ten plays for the second SMU score. Wayne Rape intercepted a pass on the goal line to stop the next Frog threat, but SMU could not move the ball. On TCU's next possession Jerry Griffin stole a flat zone pass and galloped 28 yards for the final score. Dennis Partee's extra points were all good to make the final score 21-0.

TO THIRD CONSECUTIVE CROWN

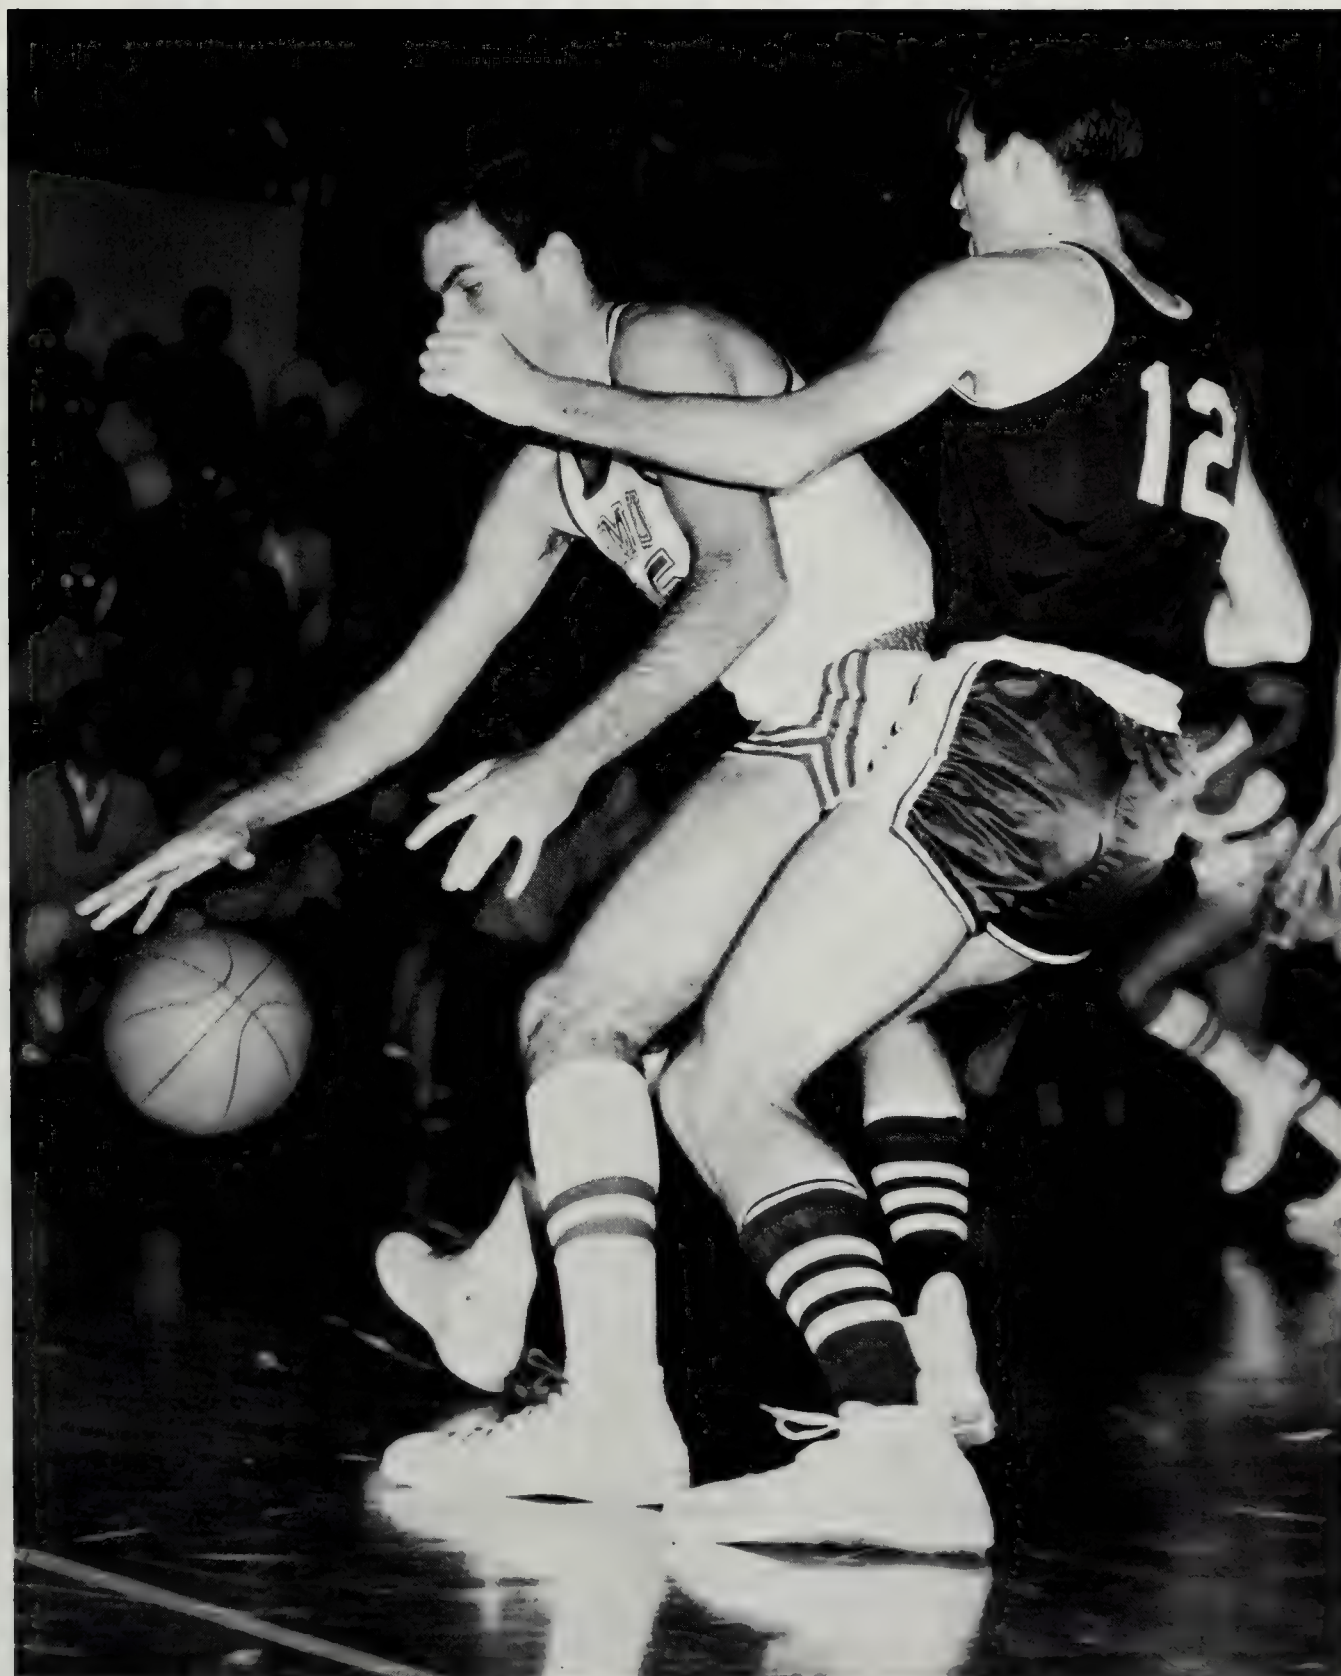

A third straight Southwest Conference basketball championship was a fitting end to the coaching career of E. O. (Doc) Hayes, who is retiring this year after 20 years and eight conference crowns at SMU. The Mustangs averaged three points more per game than their opponents. Five of the ten SWC victories were won by three points or less, and the team proved time and time again that they had the poise of champions under pressure. Seniors Bob Begert, Denny Holman, Bob Jones, and Charles Beasley were starters all three years of their varsity competition. Lynn Phillips, Southwest Conference "Sophomore of the Year", was the fifth straight starter this season. Bill Voight, Bill Rainer, and John Higginbotham were important in reserve roles and are excellent starting prospects for next year. SMU finished conference play with a 12-2 record; in non-conference action, the Mustangs claimed eight victories against four defeats.

The team record in tournament play was excellent. They won first place in the Sun Bowl in El Paso by beating Drake and Southern Illinois. This was one of only two defeats handed the Illinois team during their regular season. In the NCAA regional tournament at Lawrenceville, Kansas, the Mustangs knocked off second-ranked Louisville in a thrilling 83-81 victory. The Ponies then dropped a close one to seventh-ranked Houston. This excellent performance proved that a Southwest Conference team can compete with the best in the nation.

Basketball prospects for next season are bright. The winning tradition established by Doc Hayes will be carried on by his former assistant and newly-appointed head coach, Bob Prewitt.

"THE END OF AN ERA . . ."

The electric clock ticked off with cruel deliberation the final seconds. A last tip-in before the buzzer, and the score stood 92-83, SMU over Texas.

For Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes, it was an anticlimactic game. His eighth conference championship in twenty years had been cinched almost a week before the season ended. Two days later, Doc was granted his request to retire. At that time he was named the Southwest Conference "Coach of the Year". Athletic Director Hayden Fry called it "the end of an era, not only for SMU, but for the Southwest Conference, as well."

Maybe you have a basketball-sized gut, maybe you get winded just walking from Fondren Science to the Student Center, maybe you never played basketball; but talking to Doc Hayes and watching his teams play, you feel 6-7 and ready to stuff in the winning goal.

Coach Hayes began his basketball career when he entered North Texas State in 1923. He started as a freshman and became an All-TIAA forward for the next three years. Hayes came to the Hilltop in 1947. He has 298 victories to 191 losses. In SWC play, his record is 163 wins against 97 losses. Now, 20 years later, the winningest coach in Southwest Conference history retires.

Hayes' Kardiac Kids became one of the most colorful teams in the league. His championship years were '55, '56, '57, '58, '66, '67. In 1962 and 1965, he guided predominantly sophomore teams to ties for the conference championship. Coach Hayes didn't appear to be a white-faced bundle of raw nerves when he watched his teams play, however. Always dressed in a dark suit, he sat glumly by the scorers' table, expressionless except to hold his head in his hands or talk to his players. Now a poker player with a full house; later a convict who had just received the last nix for a reprieve.

A coach is a part-time doctor, teacher, lawyer, father, counselor, drill instructor, clown, good-will ambassador, after-dinner speaker, and magician.

A winner is a man who makes the big play, who pulls the breaks out of a down situation and moves in for victory.

A combination of the two is a winning coach. A winning coach is Doc Hayes.

SWIMMING

It has lately become a tradition at Southern Methodist to win SWC swimming. Things didn't change this year at the conference meet in Lubbock. Coach Red Barr's tankers whacked all opposition to sail away with their eleventh straight SWC swimming championship.

The limit rule, which allows only eighteen swimmers on a squad, helped SMU because Barr had to swim his best. And his best totaled $667\frac{1}{2}$ points—258 points ahead of second-place Texas. After the first day, critics could see that SMU would win again. The Pony Swimming Stable won four of five events and were never headed during the rest of their stay in the West Texas town.

Tim Birnie and Ken Merten were again the top performers for SMU. Merten totaled 56 points during the meet for individual honors. Birnie swam in the 800-yard freestyle on the final day of the meet and hence helped the Mustangs nip event-favored Texas.

SMU received fine performances from many athletes. All-American Bryan Robbins won both diving events, and Lydon Neuman, Bill Charbonneau, Vernon Slovin, Howard Moore, and Brian Percival contributed victories in their respective events. Excellent races from sophomores such as Mark Tabbert and Richard Marshall were cause for optimism about future aquatic seasons.

The Mustangs placed seventh in the National NCAA swim meet held in East Lansing, Michigan. The highlight of the meet was Ken Merten's fantastic performance. Merten, SMU's first national champion, set new American and NCAA records in the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke.

The swimming crown makes three SWC athletic championships in one year with only 7,000 students enrolled. Someone's been doing their job. Everyone would agree Coach Barr has. He's added his trophy for the past ten years. This makes number 11.

TRACK

The track season produced some fine performances by individuals, but the Mustangs did not have the depth to be contenders for the conference crown. In the SWC track meet, SMU finished in fifth place, with a total of 34 points as compared to 60 for champion Rice.

Bright spots in the meet were Larry Storbeck's winning effort in the 1-mile event and the combined victory of Marshall Edwards and Steve Clayton in the sprint medley. Jerry Utecht compiled an outstanding record by winning the conference championship in the 440-hurdles and placing second in the high hurdles. Captain Jim Bankhead set a new conference record in the 440-yard sprint. The sprint relay team, composed of Bankhead, Clayton, Edwards, and John Holmes, placed second with a time of 41.0.

There has been a tremendous improvement in the SMU baseball team in just one year. Last spring, the Mustangs occupied the Southwest Conference cellar; this year, the Ponies were in contention for the crown until the last game of the season, which they lost to conference champion, Texas.

Highlights of the season were outstanding individual performances by Mike Livingston, Bill Rainer, and Donnie Denbow. Livingston, the Mustangs' star pitcher, compiled a conference record of six wins against only one loss. He and outfielder Rainer were selected for the All-Conference team. Denbow was also named to the All-Conference team and received the coveted award of "Most Valuable Player" in the Southwest Conference.

Coach Bob Finley has prospects for an excellent season next year, since graduation claimed only first baseman Harold Richardson and second baseman Chris Najork.

TENNIS

The SMU tennis team once again ran into trouble with stiff Southwest Conference competition. However, Coach Leo La-Borde's netters showed much improvement over the 3-13 record compiled last season. They finished the year in sixth place, and with the best SMU showing in several tries.

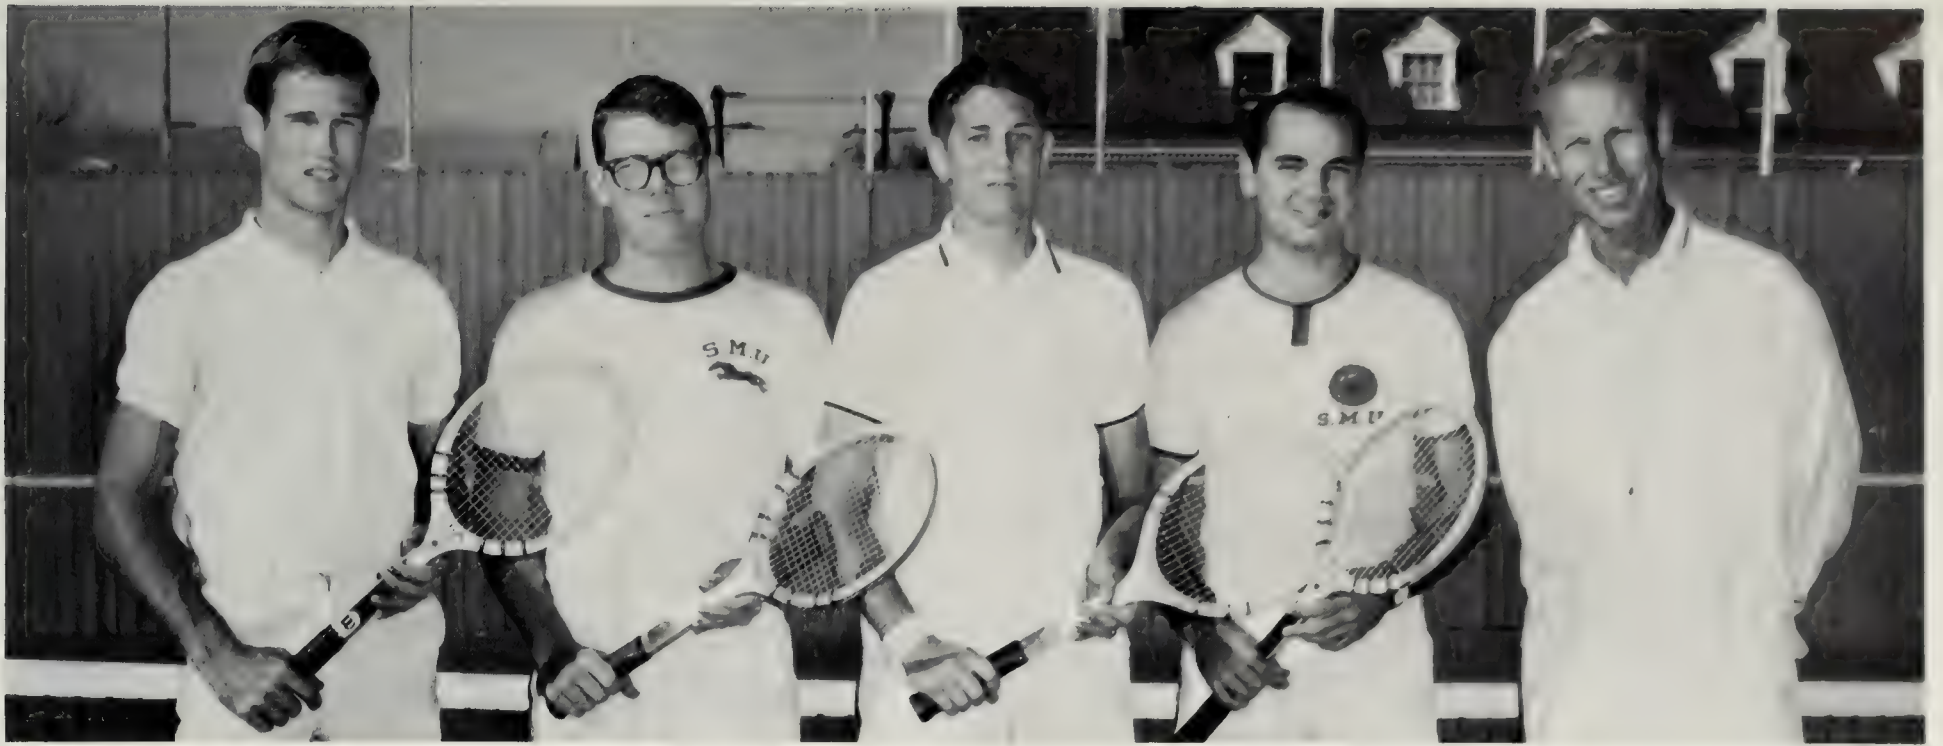

The future seems brighter for Mustang tennis hopes because of the consistently strong playing by sophomores. Randy Matthews, Stanley Baker, and Craig Parsons, all sophomores, and Harvey Davis, a junior, were the top four men on the team. Another significant factor which should improve the sport at SMU is the recent establishment of a tennis scholarship.

For over a century and a half, election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of intellectual capacities well employed, especially in the acquisition of an education in the liberal arts and sciences. Members are elected from the highest ten per cent of the senior class and the highest one per cent of the junior class. Since 1949, SMU has been proud to add names of its outstanding students to the society's honor roll.

SIGMA TAU

Sigma Tau, national engineering honorary, was founded February 22, 1904, at the University of Nebraska. Within a few years it attained national scope and recognition. Alpha Beta chapter was founded at SMU on October 17, 1942.

The unique success of Sigma Tau must be ascribed not only to its insistence on fine scholarship and its sponsoring of high professional ideals, but also to its realistic meaning to the student and the practicing engineer. Sigma Tau fosters scholarship, practicality, and sociability in the field of engineering.

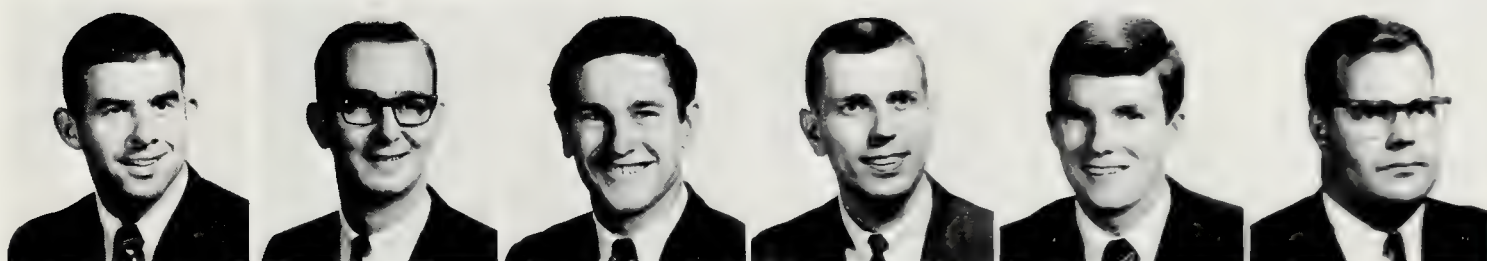

Members are selected from students who rank scholastically in the upper one-third of the junior and senior classes in the School of Engineering. Election to membership is the highest distinction any engineering student at SMU may obtain.

MORTAR BOARD

OFFICERS:

LINDA GOIDL, President
 JEANNE BRETT, Vice-President
 ROBERTA SCHMID, Secretary
 HARRIET MIERS, Treasurer

Election to Mortar Board is one of the outstanding distinctions which a senior woman may attain. One of the year's most eagerly awaited events is the annual Mortar Board "Calling Out" which is held each spring. To qualify for membership, a girl must maintain a "B" average throughout her college career and be prominent in campus activities.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to promote and maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman. Each year Decima Chapter presents the Dorothy Amann Award and the Decima Lantern Award to women outstanding for their scholarship and service to SMU.

Mortar Board has grown with SMU. Square, the original honorary of four girls, came into existence during the school's first session in 1915-16. In 1926, the group was expanded to ten members and was renamed Decima. In 1932, Decima became the fiftieth chapter of national Mortar Board, which now has 117 chapters.

CYCEN FJODR

Cycen Fjodr has the distinction of being the oldest honorary at SMU. The secret knighthood is composed of the top ten men of senior standing on the campus. There are eight undergraduate members and one each from Perkins School of Theology and the SMU School of Law.

Membership for the knights is based upon academic achievement, leadership qualities, and outstanding service to the University. During the spring of each year since 1915, the retiring Knights have chosen their successors from outstanding junior men. During Homecoming, the Knights tap ten serfs. These are men of freshman standing whom the Knights feel possess the greatest potential for campus leadership. The selection is based on high school achievement, interview performance, and early campus activities.

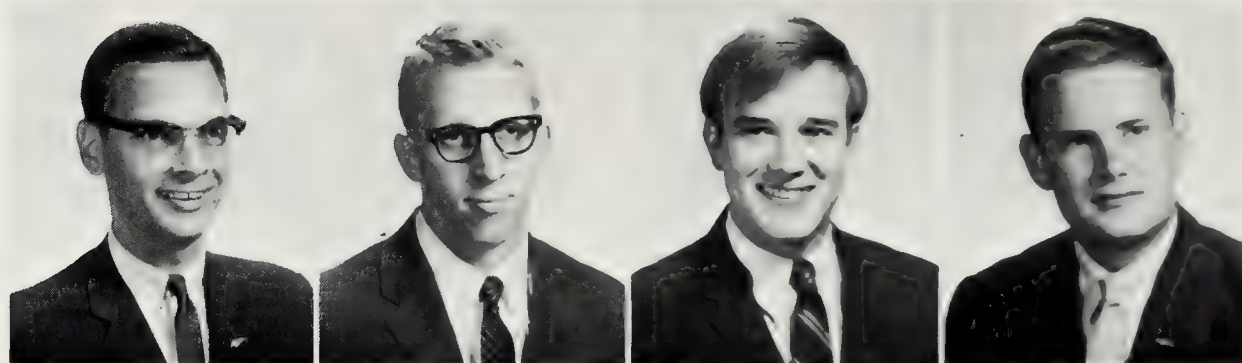

To be a part of the knighthood or serfhood is a unique and rewarding experience for any man.

Blue Key is a national honorary fraternity for men outstanding in service, scholarship, character, and ability. The blue key which the members wear symbolizes good citizenship and service which the university seeks to recognize.

The fraternity was founded at the University of Florida in 1924. In a year's time, realization of the worth of such an organization brought national expansion. Today, Blue Key chapters are spread throughout the entire country.

The Blue Key chapter at SMU was founded in 1928. The SMU chapter is proud to point to many outstanding professional men and prominent citizens in Dallas and across the nation who are members.

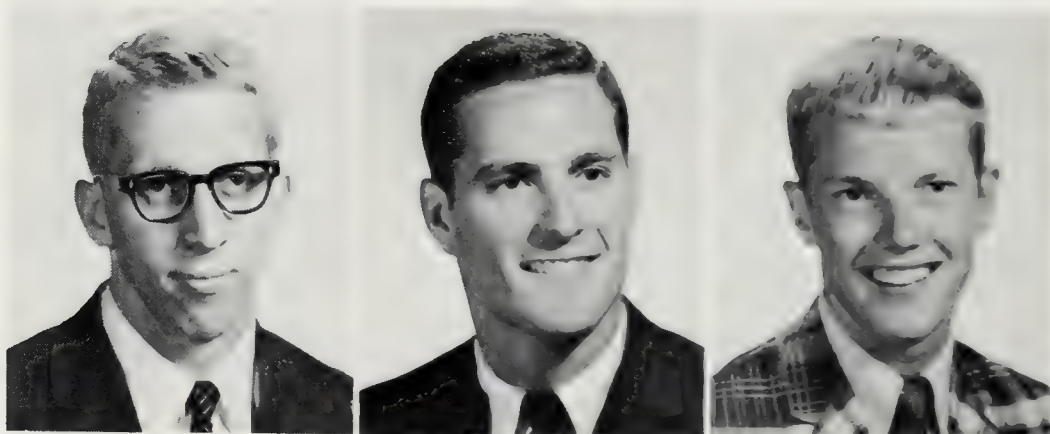

The fraternity endeavors to perpetuate belief in God, to support and defend the government of the United States and the established institutions of society. It preserves the principles of good citizenship, fosters ambitions of intellectual attainment, studies student problems, and enriches student life. From parties to parking lots, if the question concerns the students at SMU, the Student Senate is interested and involved. Composed of twenty-six representatives elected from the various schools, the Senate is the legislative branch of student government here.

Dynamic co-operation both in and out of the Senate is the goal of the group. This year was marked by a real effort to make constructive progress in campus unity. Homecoming was the result of co-ordinated work by the Senate and other campus organizations.

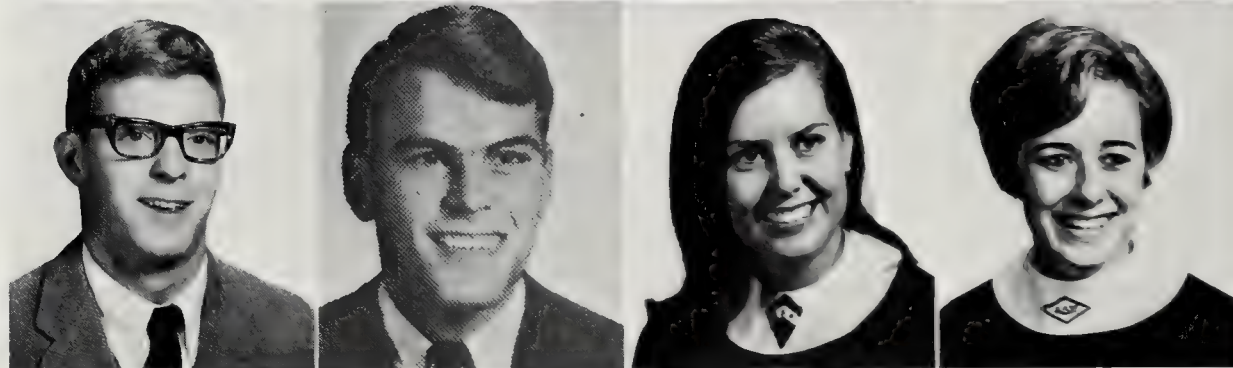

In a large university, there are many different students and many different student needs. Correspondingly, the Senate program is diverse. The committees handle issues ranging from all-inclusive ones such as the University College to smaller, more specialized ones such as Sunday dinners for foreign exchange students. Willingness to face problems and then work to correct them has led the Senate into the role of a concerned and questioning body. The beginning of professor-evaluation promises to be of great significance.

In all these attempts—some rewarded and some frustrated—Dr. Fred Bryson, Dean of University Life, serves as the Senate's mentor and much-appreciated friend. He has greatly aided the formation of effective student government at SMU.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

As each girl registers at SMU, she receives the privilege of membership in Associated Women Students. The object of this organization is to provide an opportunity for women students to accept the responsibility of self-government. It is through AWS that the women students at SMU express themselves in the university community. AWS strives to encourage the development of mature student leadership in every aspect of campus life, to further the spirit of unity among the women of the university, to increase their sense of responsibility to each other, and to maintain high standards of college life.

The AWS General Council coordinates the many programs of AWS. This council is composed of the organization's executive officers, and representatives from the residence halls and sorority houses. The programs of the Dallas Town Girls, the sorority house council, the individual hall and floor councils, and the Sophomore Sponsors are under the auspices of AWS.

Throughout the year, AWS sponsors activities which benefit not only the co-eds, but the entire campus community. A street dance initiates the fall activities. The group sponsors a Carol Sing at Christmas, and AWS honors graduating women at a breakfast in the spring. In coordination with the Dean of Women, AWS plans an annual Symposium, which brings national and international figures to the campus to meet with women students who are concerned with vital personal and world problems. The Perspectives program sponsors small group discussions led by socially and politically informed speakers.

Sophomore Sponsors are a group of carefully selected sophomore women chosen by AWS to live in freshman residence halls.

On opening day at the University, the sponsors greet girls and their parents, help them move into the residence halls, and introduce them to other students.

Throughout the year, the sponsors are available to help freshmen in any way possible. They assist them in learning about various facets of university life.

Along with the counselors, sponsors serve as advisors to the residence hall governing groups.

Finally, the sponsors are upperclass friends who have volunteered to assist freshman women in becoming part of the university community, further enabling them to obtain the most from their college career.

DALLAS TOWN GIRLS' ASSOCIATION

The Dallas Town Girls' Association was founded in the spring of 1955 for the many women students attending SMU from Dallas. The organization includes Dallas women living at home or on campus—both independents and sorority women.

Town Girls especially works toward integrating women living off-campus into the activities of the University and making them feel a part of the campus community.

At the luncheon meetings every other Wednesday, members enjoy short programs on a variety of subjects. Prior to fall orientation, Town Girls sponsors a picnic for all incoming freshman women from Dallas. During orientation week, the group presents a style show with the latest fall fashions. On "move-in" day, members greet girls and their parents in freshman residence halls and serve refreshments. Throughout the year, their activities have both social and service purposes. The yearly program has included a Christmas party, an Easter egg hunt for underprivileged children, and a mother and daughter luncheon. Town Girls also helps implement the programs of AWS, of which the association forms a part.

Panhellenic, meaning all-Greek, is a forum for the Greek women at SMU. The offices of the Executive Committee are filled by rotation among the sororities, according to the date of founding on the SMU campus. The purpose of the Panhellenic organization is to maintain a friendly spirit among the sororities and to acquaint others with the goals and interests of the Greek world.

Panhellenic, in conjunction with the Office of the Dean of Women, conducts rush at SMU. The Council and officers are at work all year planning schedules and revising rules in an effort to make rush satisfactory for each sorority and rushee.

Panhellenic has many activities during the year, including a Scholarship Banquet with IFC during Greek Week, Open Houses during freshman orientation, Homecoming decorations, and visits to the freshman dorms for question and answer periods concerning rush. The major activity of Panhellenic was the successful Greek Week held in conjunction with IFC.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council of Southern Methodist University is a voluntary association of the fraternities on the campus. It operates under its own constitution, within the framework of University policies.

The purpose of the organization is to promote friendship, cooperation, and understanding between the various fraternities. It undertakes to solve the mutual and individual problems of the fraternities and works for better harmony in the Greek system as a whole. The IFC formulates the policies under which the fraternities operate, particularly in the matters of rushing and pledging.

The SMU IFC is associated with the National Interfraternity Conference.

The Sophomore Advisors are a group of men chosen because they showed evidence of an ability to communicate, concern for other people, and maturity. Two to four of the advisors live on each freshman floor and assist the counselor with the programming of social activities and intramurals. The greatest value of the advisors comes from the fact that they retain vivid impressions of their own freshman year and are thus able to use this experience in discussions with their freshmen.

STUDENT ENGINEERS' JOINT COUNCIL

The Student Engineers' Joint Council is the elected governing body of the Engineering School, and as such strives to coordinate the student functions and activities within the Engineering School. Sponsorship of the annual Engineers' Banquet, the Engineers' Week Conference for High School and Junior College Students, and the Engineering School's orientation program for freshmen are among the responsibilities of the Council. The SEJC is composed of the president and two elected representatives from each of the four professional societies on campus.

FRESHMAN COUNCIL

Each fall, twelve boys and twelve girls are chosen from the incoming freshman class to serve on the Freshman Council. The Council, the only body representing the freshman class, serves as a sounding board for the SMU Student Senate opinion and policy and as a discussion group for current events concerning the campus and the nation.

APO serves the campus through projects that include Freshman Rides, daily tours of Owens Fine Arts Center, maintenance of the Campus Blood Bank, Homecoming alumni tours, and assistance with Manada. In addition, APO works with scouting and is called upon for special services to the community throughout the year.

Alpha Phi Omega, the largest Greek-letter organization in the United States, has been active at SMU for thirty years.

COGS

COGS, the Campus Organization for General Service, is concerned with serving SMU and the Dallas community in any helpful capacity. Since its reactivation in 1965, COGS has continued to grow and many worthwhile projects have resulted. Such activities as ushering for concerts and speakers, china surveys, campus and Fine Arts Center tours, manning the information center, and special trips for underprivileged children are among the projects for 1966-67.

COGS applicants are pledges, or "spokes", after accumulating fifteen service hours. They are initiated as full members, or "cogs", after contributing thirty service hours.

YMCA YWCA

The SMU YMCA and YWCA comprise the Campus "Y". It places its emphasis on Christian action in individual lives, the SMU campus, and the Dallas community.

This year the "Y" continued many of its projects on an even broader scale than before. The tutoring project took SMU students to the depressed areas of West Dallas to aid high school students and to encourage them to stay in school. The largest Sing-Song with 32 Greek and independent groups was sponsored by the "Y" in the fall.

Throughout the year, Coffee Houses were held to give students a chance to meet faculty in a different atmosphere and to encourage free discussion of such topics as the church, Black Power, Viet Nam, and Red China.

The Executive Round Table was a series of dinners permitting students to meet outstanding Dallas businessmen and civic leaders. During the NSA debate, the "Y" published a general fact sheet in hopes of presenting an objective view of the proposal. Ragg Mopp, the annual competitive collection drive for the Goodwill Industries, was held in March. All of these many and diversified activities of the "Y" are open to all SMU students.

The SMU Students' Publishing Company directs the publication and distribution of the ROTUNDA, the SMU CAMPUS, the Student Directory, and Espejo. The company is responsible for letting the contracts for printing and engraving, and it oversees the spending of money by the individual publications. This corporation is controlled by a Board of Directors.

The Publishing Board is composed of the Vice-President of the Student Senate, an elected representative of the student body, two senate appointees, the chairman of the Journalism department, and two other faculty members. KSMU — 640

KSMU, the campus radio station, began operations on October 5, 1964, and has progressed from an FM sound to its present "top forty" sound. This transition was made in response to audience reaction to the program formats.

KSMU is a carrier current station, operating on 10 watts, and broadcast through all dormitories on the SMU campus. The student can hear KSMU by turning his radio to the frequency of 640.

In January of 1966, Jeff Pierce succeeded Marc McKinney as Station Manager, and has held this position since that time. He has a very capable staff under him, all of whom are students at SMU. KSMU is on the air for student broadcasting every Monday through Friday from 5 p.m. until 1 a.m., and on Sunday from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m.

ESPEJO

ESPEJO, the long-awaited SMU literary magazine, appeared in the fall of 1962. Now in its fifth year of publication, ESPEJO occupies a place of esteem among campus publications. The staff, with Seymour Lane as editor, Judy Belt and Judy Gordon as assistant editors, and John Godbey as poetry editor, used the magazine as an experiment in design and color. The first issue sold out and the second, larger issue equalled its predecessor's record.

SMU PRESS

Despite its title, SMU's scholarly publishing division is not a printer and owns no presses: it purchases the services of a printer and those of a binder in its function of producing books. The process of production involves the choice of what to publish and then the shaping of a raw manuscript into smooth, publishable form.

Next comes the design of the book's format, leading into the actual manufacturing of the volume. When the finished book is in hand, the Press changes from manufacturer to distributor: the search for customers is also a part of its business, as are the filling of orders and the accounting for proceeds of sales. To carry out these multiple tasks, the SMU Press has an eight-person staff, housed in the basement of the Science Information Center. Director of the Press since 1946 is Allen Maxwell; Margaret Hartley is Press editor.

Output of the SMU Press in recent years has varied from five to fifteen books annually, issued most frequently in first printings of 2,000 copies each. The 1966-67 year saw a dozen titles added to the SMU list.

SOUTHWEST REVIEW

MARGARET HARTLEY, Editor

Published four times a year, the Southwest Review, with subscribers all over the United States, is one of the most widely known "voices" of SMU. It has been in existence since 1915, when it was founded at the University of Texas. It moved to SMU in 1924 and has been published here ever since.

Though it has been called a "regional and literary quarterly", the Review is by no means exclusively either literary or regional. It places emphasis on creative work in fiction and poetry and includes literary criticism, but it also maintains a strong interest in current economic, social, and political problems, and in the arts. It presents the work of writers of the Southwest and concerns itself with material pertaining to this region; but it is not restricted to its home area, since its editors feel that in this age of rapid transportation and communication, no region can exist to itself, and that legitimate regionalism can and must coincide with broad world-views. In its choice of authors and subjects, the Southwest Review draws on solid local material and then branches out into the free air of thought and creativity that blows across all limiting boundaries.

The legal profession is unique in that it is served by scholarly, analytical periodicals which are published and partially written by law students. The Southwestern Law Journal, published entirely by students who have attained academic superiority in the SMU School of Law, is Southern Methodist University's contribution to that profession. Nationally eminent professors, judges, and attorneys author the articles which appear in the Journal along with a sizeable complement of student-written Comments and Notes. Now in its twenty-first year, the Southwestern Law Journal annually publishes approximately 800 pages. It has subscribers in major law firms and libraries in all states and in more than fifteen foreign countries.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

CHAPEL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Southern Methodist University sponsors regular Services of Worship each Sunday morning at eleven o'clock during the academic year. These services are ecumenical in spirit, Protestant in character, and Christian in commitment. The worship forms are normally Methodist in tradition. Dr. J. Claude Evans, Chaplain to the University, is in charge of these services and is the usual preacher. However, throughout the year, outstanding visiting preachers and various faculty members are invited to fill the pulpit. The Service of Holy Communion is celebrated each Sunday morning at nine o'clock. A Chapel Board composed of eleven faculty and administration members and eleven students coordinates the work of the Sunday Chapel. The Chapel Board meets several times each semester in order to evaluate the Chapel services and plan for the future.

The purpose of the organization is to afford the college community the opportunity to unite the students in close bonds of Christian fellowship, to hold regular testimony meetings, to sponsor Christian Science lectures, and to participate in campus projects that will promote interreligious interest and elevate individual thinking and world thinking to a better apprehension of the Christ, Truth.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

The Hillel Foundation, sponsored by B'nai B'rith and founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, attempts to serve as the liaison between the Jewish student body and the historical Jewish heritage. The organization seeks to enable the student to share in the religious and cultural group expressions of the Jewish heritage. It hopes to help in the integration of the Jewish student into the campus and community by the promotion of wholesome Jewish fellowship and intergroup relations.

The SMU Hillel Counselorship provides a social, religious, and cultural focal point for the Jewish students on campus. Dr. Harold Blum, Professor of Engineering, is the group's advisor.

The Newman Catholic Center attempts to integrate educational, religious, and social aspects of campus life. The Wednesday night forums provide an atmosphere for serious discussions, while the Sunday night suppers and socials provide a relaxed atmosphere. Father Joseph Drew, while providing spiritual guidance and offering Mass daily for the students, leaves the operations of the organization completely to the students, so that they will exert themselves as interested laymen.

WESLEY-PCF

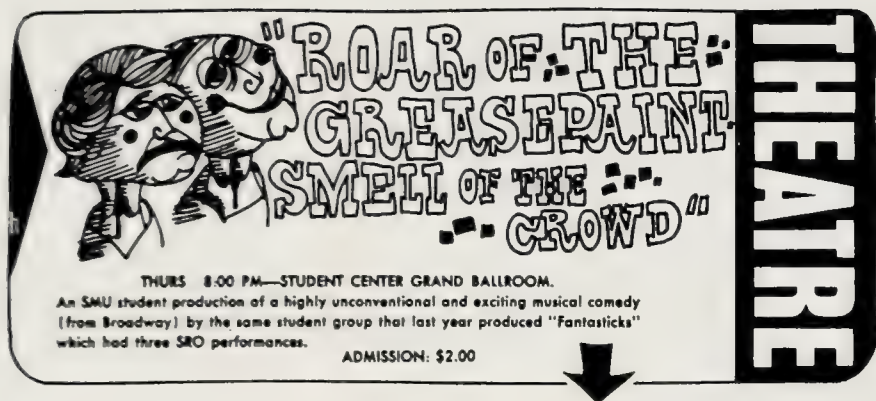

The Wesley Foundation-Presbyterian Christian Fellowship describes its purpose in the following statement: "This is our task as we see it—to be critical but not rootless; intellectual but not detached; true to the university and true to the church; enlightened and informed by the Word of God as best we can understand it in the world today. Because we share a common understanding of this task, the Wesley Foundation-Presbyterian Christian Fellowship participate jointly in most activities of the campus ministry."

FINE ARTS,
SPECIAL INTERESTS

ARDEN CLUB

The purpose of the Arden Club is to provide training in the dramatic arts through the production and presentation of fine plays and to foster an intelligent interest in good theater on campus.

Charter members of the club were those students who participated in the production of Shakespeare's As You Like It, presented at the end of the University's first academic year, 1915-16. The following year this group gave three plays. Until the Second World War, the club continued the tradition of concluding the year with an out-of-door presentation of a Shakespeare play.

Each year the Arden Club produces at least four full-length plays and a series of performances for audiences on the campus and for non-university groups. Any SMU student is eligible to participate in productions.

Arnold Air Society, named in honor of General H. H. Arnold, began as a local organization at the University of Cincinnati in 1947. Since then, it has grown to a membership of 168 chapters throughout the country.

The goals of Arnold Air Society, founded as an honor society for AFROTC cadets, are to aid in the development and production of Air Force officers, to create a closer and more efficient relationship within the Air Force Officer Training Corps (Reserve), to further the purpose, traditions, and concepts of the United States Air Force, to support Aerospace Power and its role in national security, and to advance air and space age citizenship.

SMU's squadron was named after Congressional Medal of Honor winner Col. Neel Kearby, a Dallasite who gave his life in action in World War II. It is designated Headquarters for the National Arnold Air Society for 1966-67.

CHI OMEGA

Campus life is an integral part of Chi Omega. The annual Chatauqua benefit, featuring Peter Nero, added $3,000 to the scholarship fund. Chi O's are active in M'am'selles, Angel Flight, Governing Board, Freshman Council, and on the Campus and ROTUNDA staffs. Members have also been awarded the distinction of membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, and Who's Who. Sing-Song saw the Chi Omegas, dressed as little Olivers, take first place. In the social realm, the Christmas formal with the ATO's was a memorable event. The Chapter also entertained parents with a Homecoming brunch and honored the football team with a dessert party. Climaxing the year was the fourth annual Pledge Presentation.

GAMMA PHI BETA

The Gamma Phi Beta's are known for their friendly smiles and active participation in campus organizations. The YMCA tutoring program found the Gamma Phi's working for others. Work is an important keynote, for Gamma Phi's are devoted to service in AWS, Freshman Council, COGS, SEA, and Arden Club. Talented Gamma Phi's toured the United States with the University Choir. Their academic achievements were recognized by membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, the MA-3 program, and several of the professional and departmental honoraries. Also, parties kept the Gamma Phi's active. With the Lambda Chi's they had a casual party in the fall and a formal dance in the spring. There was the traditional Christmas formal; later they all dressed as children for their "Charlie Brown" party. The pledges and actives enjoyed a retreat and two slumber parties.

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma was founded at the University of Bologna in Italy in the 1400's. The first chapter in the United States was colonized at the University of Virginia in 1869. In 1927, Delta Pi chapter of Kappa Sigma was chartered at SMU. Since that time, chapter members have made notable contributions to the University. Kappa Sigs served this year as vice-president of the Interfraternity Council, members of Men's Judiciary, and as student senators. For their leadership and service, members have been selected for Who's Who and were chosen as Senior Superlatives and recipients of the "M" Award. The group annually chooses seventeen coeds as members of the Stardusters, the fraternity sweetheart club. The Kappa Sig social calendar included such memorable events as the annual Toilet Bowl and Luau Party. The year was concluded with the Sweetheart Dance, at which the sweetheart of Kappa Sigma was announced.

SIGMA CHI

From its founding in April of 1855 at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, the Sigma Chi Fraternity has become one of the leaders in the fraternity world. In 1948, Sigma Chi chartered Delta Mu chapter at SMU. In 1965, the local chapter underwent extensive reorganization and raised its active membership from nine to over forty members. With the help of Dallas area alumni, the chapter house has been extensively remodeled. Delta Mu is well represented on varsity athletic teams, Men's Judiciary, and IFC. Members are to be found in Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, and many departmental honoraries. This year the Sigs were proud to receive the Homecoming trophy for their first-place display. Frequent pregame, postgame, and informal parties, alumni buffets, serenades, and sorority socials round out the social calendar. Highlights of the social year included "garbage parties", the Christmas formal, and the Sigma Chi Sweetheart Dance. At work or at play, individually or as a group, Sigma Chis strive to improve in all areas, uphold the challenging ideals of the Fraternity, and be an active credit to the University.

How can a contribution to the spirit and morale of a nation be rewarded? Certainly the bestowal of a Doctorate of Humane Letters is a small, but sincere, effort to tangibly recognize a most abstract gift—that of human personality.

He called his honorary degree "a body blow to higher education." But his adopted Mustangs know better. They proudly claim him as their own.

The dream of the Drama Department takes shape out of a mass of lumber and concrete. The Bob Hope Theater will be a reality in the spring of 1968.

SENIOR VESPERS

Sunset on May 20, 1967, meant more than the close of any ordinary Saturday. This particular sunset had an official sort of finality about it. For seniors, it meant the close of all their undergraduate days. The sunset made memories out of TGIF parties, pledge pranks, New Year's in the Cotton Bowl, one-night cram jobs, and coveted degree plans. However, as the sun sets . . .

GRADUATION

... the sun also rises. It rises on a new era, a new generation filling the ranks of the working world. It rises on fresh knowledge more widely scattered than ever before. It rises on the new challenges of adult life—challenges which we hope our graduates are prepared to meet.

SMU...an enlightened university

SMU's outstanding undergraduate schools, its highly regarded graduate school and its nationally known professional schools, are helping the university attract some of the finest young men and women in the country. In fact, more than 30% of the student body comes from outside of Texas . . . from every state in the Union and as many as 50 foreign countries.

Many of today's and yesterday's business, industrial and civic leaders are SMU graduates. And now, with a graduate and undergraduate enrollment of nearly 8,900, SMU represents a great reservoir of talent and brainpower. Dallas, the Southwest and the nation will draw on this talent-pool for its leaders of tomorrow. These men and women will exert a tremendous influence on the future of this area and will help keep it in a dominant position of growth and progress.

One of the nation's leading universities, SMU is dedicated to maintaining the highest scholastic standards in training its students in the ways of leadership. And Dallas Power & Light Company is dedicated to fostering and promoting progress by providing modern, economical and dependable electric service . . . for the growing needs of business and industry, and for the civic betterment of our city.

Electricity does it better . . . and what a wonderful buy!
